Gold and Silver Miners with Charts linked

The first 25% to 40% upswing in gold and silver miners has been made. This presents an emotional dilemma for those who did not want to invest while there was no upward trend. Now that there is an upward trend do you buy or are you saying – The shares moved up so fast I am not buying into this strength? There is no easy answer the market is in a hyper active emotional phase. Gold and silver could because of short covering trade sharply higher from here or it could, because it is over-bought short term, pull back and give you an opportunity to buy at a lower price. Because there is no clear answer to the question, a stage-in buy-in over a period of time is suggested. Gold and silver miners are technically on a short, intermediate and long term buy signal based on the stock price Vs short (50-day), intermediate (150-day) and long term (200-day) moving averages. It is recommended you look at five year charts to gain a better perspective of where gold and silver miner have been and where they might have the potential to return.
