

LOTM – Ideas - Trades - Charts

Aegon (AEG) $6.05

Mentioned off and on as a large cap company that has a low price earnings ratio (9 x fdw) and a decent dividend (4.9%) the shares look cheap. AEG share price is creeping higher. It still appears to be at an attractive valuation for buying. The price has crawled above all three major moving averages. It would not be surprising to see the shares pull back to the $5.75 area but we view such a pull-back - should it happen - as an aggressive buying opportunity.
